THE CONSTITUTION,

PUBLISHED DAILY AND WEEKLY

ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION is published every day, except Monday, and is delivered by carriers in the city, or mailed postage free at $1 per month or $3 for three months, or $10 a year.

THE CONSTITUTION is for sale on all trains leading out of Atlanta, and at newsstands in the principal southern cities.

ADVERTISING RATES depend on location in the paper and will be furnished on application.

CORRESPONDENCE containing important news solicited from all parts of the country.

ADDRESS all letters and telegrams, and make all drafts or checks payable to THE CONSTITUTION, Atlanta, Georgia.

ATLANTA, GA., AUGUST 23, 1883.

INDICATIONS for the South Atlantic states, partly cloudy weather and local rains, variable winds, stationary barometer, stationary or rising temperature.

The arm clutch is unpopular in Easton. That city does not take to new ideas as readily as some others.

The redistricting bill is the regular order of the day. It will call up the most lively debate of the session.

The Wisconsin prohibitionists are taking active steps looking to participation in the coming state and federal elections.

The funeral of Judge Jeremiah S. Black took place yesterday before an immense assemblage. Rev. Dr. Powers officiating.

A daring attempt was made to wreck a train on the Columbus and Rome railroad yesterday, by the burning of a trestle.

WHENEVER a negro, with nothing to do, is seen loitering around Columbus, he is suspected of the murder of the late Smith Austin.

The French are moving actively in their war against Tonquin. Military operations have already resulted in victory for the French arms.

The failure of S. G. Haynes & Bros., of Savannah, with liabilities of $200,000, is announced. The cause was the payment of too much interest.

The Knights of Labor, if the defeated strikers are to be credited, have a good many explanations to make about loud cheers and sparse collections.

A cyclone yesterday was the cause of great damage in Minnesota. Over one hundred lives were lost and the destruction to property must have been considerable.

NORVICH GREEN could not place Western Union stock in London, because brokers there do not believe in the bogus sales so popular in New York. When a sale takes place they believe in seeing the goods passing into the purchaser's hands.

MR. JORDAN, spurred up by the Chinese wedding in Augusta on Sunday, yesterday endeavored to call up his bill declaring such unions illegal; but the house, not deeming the question to be as pressing as did Mr. Jordan, refused to consent to that course.

The act of the howling negro mob which on yesterday interfered with the arrest of a colored lawbreaker, seems to be the outcropping of a spirit of lawlessness in the race which forbids the possibility of improvement, notwithstanding the efforts of their most zealous friends.

MR. HENDRICKS in Saratoga, and before his return home may conclude to drop in at Greystone. A thoughtful friend of Mr. Hendricks collared an unoffending reporter, and declared that the next ticket to win should be personally popular in Indiana, and that "Mr. Hendricks is not the man to refuse the post of duty."

It is the policy of English statesmen to steal the labors of the opposition. When Catholic emancipation was before parliament it was bitterly opposed by the duke of Wellington, yet when the passage of the measure became a necessity, the duke, who had been, came premier, introduced the bill as the free grace of the crown. Thus it has been with every similar measure of reform since. Home rule has lately been laughed at by British politicians. Still it has forced itself upon the attention of the country, until the declaration of a liberal member yesterday, that at the next session of the commons he would introduce a bill on the subject, was received with cheers. The day will yet come when Gladstone, like the iron duke, will introduce the bill, and still denounce Parnell, its rightful author, as the duke did O'Connell, as an agitator.

HOPKINS'S ANNOTATED PENAL CODE.

Judge John L. Hopkins has just published a new addition of his annotated penal code of Georgia. The volume contains a complete digest of all the criminal laws in the state for the purpose of securing harmony in the Georgia reports up to the sixty-first volume, with additional paragraphs and sections from the code of Georgia relating to criminal practice. The work is complete and thorough and is indispensable to lawyer and judge in this state. To attorneys in other states who have much criminal practice it is also a valuable book. The present edition contains an elaborate index covering all the references in the digest, and easily pointing to every legal principle that has been determined by the supreme court of our state in criminal cases before it.

A DEAD LETTER.

The failure of the house to pass the bill to increase the legal rate of interest from 8 to 12 per cent is an amusing example of the advantage which prejudice has over reason and common sense. We say amusing, for while the burdens incident to a legally restricted rate of interest fall chiefly on the agricultural classes, yet the men who voted Tuesday to lay the bill on the table may be said to represent the views and desires of the farmers of the state. This being the case, it is not clear to us that anybody has the right to complain. The law to restrict the rate of interest to 8 per cent is inoperative except in so far as it inspires the credit of those who necessities compel them to become borrowers. The law says that the rate of interest shall be 8 per cent, but when a farmer is compelled to borrow, he finds his sorrow that the rate is nearer twenty 8. He makes this discovery when he can succeed in borrowing, but more frequently he finds that he cannot borrow at all, and he is compelled to fall back upon the time-credits of the supply merchants, the rate of interest ranging from 100 to 300 per cent. When the average legislator is told this, he laughs and depends upon ignorance and prejudice to sustain the results of his own ignorance and prejudice.

Nor does he depend in vain. Year after year the agricultural classes stand in their own light by sending to the legislature men who care nothing whatever for their interests. If the farmers are satisfied with a law which cripples their credit and drives them into the clutches of the supply merchant, we see no reason why anybody else should complain. In all other directions the law is a dead letter.

DEMOCRATIC POLITICS.

A fortnight has now passed and neither Editor Dana nor Editor Watterson, who seem to have general control of matters, have reiterated the statement that Mr. Tilden will not under any circumstances, be a candidate for the democratic nomination. This fact, combined with others which our readers have no doubt had their attention called to, leads us to suspect that these great conservators of true democracy are beginning to view matters through an atmosphere somewhat different to that through which they gazed while disposing of their Uncle Samuel. A fortnight has now passed, and Editor Watterson has not reaffirmed the surprising statement that the democrats of the west and south are clamoring for the nomination of Mr. McDonald, a year or more in advance of the convention.

These things incline us to believe that the democratic policy—and this includes the nomination of candidates—will settle itself satisfactorily to all concerned. As a matter of fact, all the indications now point to Mr. Tilden and the old ticket. It is true that these indications may be premature or untrustworthy, but they are at least worthy of observation and acknowledgment. Mr. John Kelly, who has heretofore been the great disturbing element in the party, and who has been able to fatally cripple the party whenever he was so minded, has written a letter in which he declares that if the old ticket is nominated he will give as cordial a support in 1884 as he did in 1876. To those who have a just conception of the power that John Kelly wields, this statement is full of significance. It means that Mr. Kelly has at last realized the truth of the situation—a truth that has been apparent to a good many people for a long time, namely, that Mr. Tilden not only retains his remarkable popularity, but that he is the only democratic leader worthy of the name.

It does not follow that, because Mr. Tilden is recognized as the democratic leader, it is absolutely necessary to renounce him. It must not be understood, therefore, that THE CONSTITUTION is the champion of Mr. Tilden or the old ticket, any more than it is in favor of Mr. Hewitt, or Judge Holman, or Mr. McDonald, or Mr. Anybody-Else, whom the democratic party may nominate; but it does follow that Mr. Tilden is not to be disposed of by any caucus he may happen to hold with Editor Dana or Editor Watterson.

These able custodians and conservators of true democracy have, by implication, placed Mr. Tilden in a false position. According to their statements, Mr. Tilden has gone so far as to decline a nomination that has never been tendered, and has announced to them that he will not be a candidate, when, as everybody knows, the democratic party has not asked him to be a candidate.

As Mr. Tilden is not in the habit of making premature announcements, even by proxy, the public must take it for granted that a misunderstanding has arisen between the great democratic leader and the right and left bowers of the great democratic party. Nobody knows what contingency may arise to prevent or to demand the nomination of Mr. Tilden in 1884; nobody knows what contingency may arise to bring about the nomination of any other democrat. Therefore, the talk about candidates is out of place.

We invite our esteemed contemporaries to fall into line with THE CONSTITUTION and permit the democratic candidate to be nominated by the democratic convention.

The Springfield Republican wants to know what the people of Massachusetts think of the fact that the Police Gazette has illustrated the tanned human hides at Tewksbury. Really, what should a people think whose representatives have recently voted a new chapter to the dead corruptionist, Oakes Ames?

The Ohio election falls on, or in the neighborhood of the second Tuesday in October. For seven hours after that event there will be comparative peace in that noble state, but as soon as the ballots are counted and the result announced, the turmoil will begin again. There is no such thing as an off year in Ohio.

The Philadelphia Press says that "General Longstreet reports that the republicans are gaining strength in Georgia." With the thermometer at 95 in the shade, General Longstreet's remark is both pithy and true.

The Cincinnati News Journal hauls back and hits Editor John K. McLean some very severe digs. This is done for the purpose of securing harmony in the democratic party of Hamilton county, Ohio.

"SOMEBODY is wanted in Atlanta," says the Courier-Journal, "who can keep a hotel—from burning." Not so, dear sir, no. Somebody is wanted who can rebuild a hotel after it is burned.

It is to be regretted that the advocates of an inter est law did not have their views spread upon the minutes last Tuesday. The supply of humor in this country is getting short.

The independent republican journals refuse to snatch Bristow from his obscurity. As the grandpa of the reformers, Bristow deserves gentlemanly treatment at least.

PERHAPS Cincinnati, which is the author of the pastebored lion and Ohio politics, could reproduce the Kimball house in four days, but we doubt it very much.

The president makers in both parties are sadly in need of a map and guide-book. Some enterprising person should supply the long-felt want.

A PHILADELPHIA exchange says that the south has the right to supply the northern markets with fruit if it can. This is a concession.

MR. DANA is right in wanting the rascals turned out. He should now advise the democrats to go before the country with some issue.

MISS MAMIE ANDERSON is making a great sensation in London. We are glad to hear this. Miss Mamie will be nineteen in June.

MR. HENRY JAMES complained awhile ago that we have no ruined castles in this country. We inquire Mr. James to inspect the ruins of the Kimball house by moonlight.

MR. STEADMAN'S "Owed to Wall Street" was written by his son. It is not always well to have this sort of a poet in the family.

POLITICAL NOTES.

LOUIS REIL has relieved the apprehensions of loyal citizens of Manitoba by returning to Montreal and proclaiming that he intends to remain there.

MR. JOHN R. FRENCH, ex-senator-at-arms of the United States senate, is delivering through the country a lecture entitled "Ten Years About the Senate." It contains a series of interesting and clear-cut sketches of the leading senators during the period between 1873 and 1883.

The Bostonians wish the secretary of the United States to fire a salute of 100 guns at the Charleston navy yard on the 3d of September, that being the one hundredth anniversary of the signing of the English treaty of peace between this country and England, and the date of the opening of the institute for the deaf.

The Richmond, Va., Dispatch is of the opinion that nobody realizes more fully than Mr. Jefferson Davis that this is now a consolidated, centralized, powerful, or rather irresistible, government, capable of working its will with either Boston rioters or South Carolina secessionists. What reason he gives for this is that it became a nation by unconstitutional or extra-constitutional methods.

The Australasian, published at Melbourne, advertises that in order to give the people of the United States information concerning the methods employed by American farmers it has dispatched an agricultural reporter for a prolonged trip in the United States. Information will be given especially in regard to the circumstances which make the United States and Australia competitors for the supply of the grain and meat markets of Europe. He will give information about transportation, wines, fruits, sugar, cheese and all machinery. This is a laudable enterprise.

In one respect, at least, the straight-out republicans and readers of Virginia are in accord. They both favor a protective tariff. The former at their recent convention adopted a resolution that places them in full sympathy with the republican party in the nation on this question. The latter, on the other hand, have adopted a resolution which is fully as strong advocates of protection as the republicans. Their organs have come out openly in favor of the tariff. It will be seen, therefore, that however widely these two parties may differ in other respects, they agree in this matter.

BARON DE STEIGELITZ is the richest man in Russia. His father was an apostate Jew, who accumulated great wealth by banking in Moscow, and he has multiplied it in many fold, in part by the handling of government securities. He has his time in Paris, and quite inconspicuously, being a man of quiet tastes and mean persona.

The young queen of Spain has been living very simply at Franzenberg with her little girls and her mother and sisters. Every morning, in a plain gray dress and black straw hat, she went to drink the water, and, like other visitors, she usually stopped at one of the confectioners' stalls that line the spring to buy cakes and rolls for breakfast.

GEORGE W. BROMLEY, a soldier of the Mexican war, and who, it is claimed, killed the Seminole chief, Osceola, in the Florida Indian war, was buried at Darby, a suburb of Philadelphia. He was 84 years of age, and died last Thursday. A few years ago he declined a commission and retirement with pay. He has been a soldier in the army for forty-eight years.

COTTON SEED OIL.

NEW YORK, August 22.—Editors Constitution: I wish to say a few words to the cotton planters who are now engaged in the cotton seed oil business. These words are in regard to cotton seed oil. If my words could be heeded the wealth of the south would be doubled.

Almost every educated family in New York city is to-day using refined cotton seed oil for all cooking purposes in place of so-called olive oil and lard.

It is found to be a sweeter and healthier article of food than lard or ordinary butter. It is much easier to handle. It can be cooked tightly in cans. It is the easiest material for a cook to use. There is hardly an intelligent family in New York that does not use refined cotton seed oil for all salads, mayonnaise dressing, frying, roasting, and everything formerly fried in lard. In fact, pork and beef are now cooked in it. It is a great improvement on the old method of cooking.

Yesterday our leading grocer in New York sent me up the fourth three-gallon can of cotton seed oil. It was better than any ever received before. It cost but 7 cents per gallon, or about six cents per pound. We had tomatoes and cucumbers dressed in it. In fact, pork and beef are now cooked in it. It is a great improvement on the old method of cooking.

Now what I want to call the attention of the southern planter to is this: Your cotton seed is now worth 7 cents per bushel. If you sell it to the oil mill, you will get 10 cents per bushel. If you sell it to the oil mill, you will get 10 cents per bushel. If you sell it to the oil mill, you will get 10 cents per bushel.

When Mr. Flynn heard that she and James were about to be married, he was very angry. He claimed from time to time, "Brace up, old girl, 's all right." The little Flynn seemed to find it all very comical.

For overcoats this winter kerseys will be popular, made up with laps and raw edges. For colors of old claret or port wine shades, which have not been worn of late, will be very stylish. For heavier, chinchilla, elysians and soft finish goods will be worn.

Two of our boldest while-walkers met the other day came to a ditch near the railroad grade at Montclair, which they did not know how to get over. Seeing young man coming along the road, they appealed to him for help, whereupon he pointed behind him with a startled air and yelled out "Snake!" The way those girls crossed that ditch was a sight to behold, and the young man lives.

Next come the plain worsted patterns for morning coats, calling coats, generally for common wear. The "corkscrew" patterns have been worn for a season or two, and it will have a great run the coming season, in the country trade especially. Heavy orders are in already and the bulk of the country trade is in this pattern. The very finest thing in worsteds will be a small, almost indistinct pattern, not diagonal, but much resembling it, in black, blue, brown, olive, wine colors and mixtures. In the sample books there are one hundred and fifty patterns and colors in worsteds, but mostly of the corkscrew pattern.

For trousers, the best to be worn are English worsteds, in small, neat stripes. The style will demand quite plain goods, and there is no tendency for the coming season toward the "loud" patterns. The style will be all the go for the fall of 1884. This display is not to be witnessed this fall and winter. For goods that always sell and will be worn extensively this winter may be mentioned chinchilla, plain, mixed, diagonal and small figured fancy goods. No pronounced change will be seen, either in style or pattern, of any of the goods worn by gentlemen, and there is nothing that has been worn that is being positively discarded.

THROUGH THE CITY.

A GLIMPSE OF CURRENT EVENTS IN ATLANTA.

The Peachtree foot pads have not been apprehended.

The workmen are still tearing down the Kimball house walls.

There will be a called session of the city council one night this week.

The recorder's court yesterday morning gave the city about $50 in fines.

Mr. Dabney Scoville is in the city again after an absence of several months.

The macadam brigade on Marietta street is now working in front of Haiman's plow factory.

Atlanta was visited by a wind storm yesterday evening which amounted almost to a cyclone.

There is a new Moon on Stonewall street. It is now shining at the residence of Officer Moon exclusively.

The mounted policemen continue to perform the duties of a cow boy to the general satisfaction of the commissioners.

Ella Thomas was arrested yesterday upon a warrant charging her with abandoning her children. She gave bond and was released.

Several of the library books were destroyed in the Kimball house fire, but the parties in whose possession they were, very promptly called and paid for them.

The residence of Mr. Henry Green, on Humphreys street, was entered by a burglar night before last and robbed of a quantity of wearing apparel and some jewelry.

Jim Dickson and Jim McHenry, two well known colored pugilists, had a regular knock-down and drag-out entertainment yesterday evening at Ransom Miller's place on Decatur street. The police appeared in time to drag out both warriors and escort them to the stationhouse.

Dr. W. F. Westmoreland, who has been very seriously ill for several weeks, has now, his friends over the state will be glad to hear, almost entirely recovered. His convalescence is rapid and in a few days he will be ready for work. In the meantime he has left the city for rest of two or three days.

Early yesterday morning an effort was made by a burglar to enter Mr. John Hayes's residence on Brick street. The burglar attempted to bore away the fastening on a window in Mr. Hayes's room but the burglar was detected by the watchman and the burglar fled. Mr. Hayes who fired through the window at the thief while he was at work.

Bill Marcy was badly knifed in a row in Mechanicsville yesterday evening. He and another negro named Bidwell, fell out over a game of cards, and in the excitement, the fight Bidwell stabbed Marcy on the right shoulder twice and cut him once in the same arm. The wounds bled freely, but neither one is thought to be of a serious character.

Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock a small white boy, whose name is at the corner of Mitchell and Loyd streets, was knocked down and run over by a careless driver on Alabama street near Pryor street. The thumb and forefinger of the boy's left hand were crushed off. The mutilated fingers was amputated by Dr. Nicolson.

The row between Kelley and Raterew, which occurred on Peters street several nights ago, did not take place at the corner of Beermann and Peters street, but at the corner of Peters and Humphries street. The statements which have located the difficulty at the corner of Peters and Beermann street have done great injustice to a citizen of Atlanta, and as the difficulty occurred at another corner this correction is made.

ELOPED WITH THE TURNOUT.

A Young Man Hires a Horse and Buggy and Departs for Unknown Shores.

Bad luck never comes single handed and as to the truth of the saying Mr. W. O. Jones, the Loyd street livery man, can today testify because of his experience yesterday.

Day before yesterday afternoon a young man entered Mr. Jones's stable and hired a horse and buggy. The name of the young man was not known to Mr. Jones and the price charged for the outfit was demanded in advance as is the custom when unknown persons hire of Atlanta liverymen.

At dark the man failed to return and Mr. Jones began to feel uneasy about his property and commenced an inquiry concerning the man to whom he hired it, and who gave him the name of John Butler. A careful search among the hotels failed to produce the name of Butler, and then fully alarmed Mr. Jones repaired to police headquarters where he advertised his loss and offered a reward for the recovery of the horse and buggy.

Chief Connolly sent telegrams in all directions and detailed Captain Bagby and officer Harris to aid Mr. Jones in the search, but up to a late hour last night no intelligence concerning the search had been received at police headquarters. The following is a description of the horse, buggy and man: "The horse was a bay, 15 3/4 hands high, eight years old, with good many wind puffs on legs, and in good flesh; only one wheel on buggy; also one set breast harness. They were hired about half past three o'clock by John Butler. He is either a Polish Jew or German, about 24 years of age, five feet six inches high, weight 130 to 135 pounds, light hair and thin short moustache; had an anchor picked between thumb and first finger on one hand."

During the day one of Mr. Jones's finest horses died from the effects of the excessive heat. And a drove of horses which were being unloaded at the Macon depot, consigned to his care escaped from the stock pen and it caused him a great deal of trouble to recapture them. Six of the horses are still at large.

TWO WONDERFUL YARNS.

A Well-Digger Who Was Thirty-Six Hours Under the Earth—The Alligator Children.

"I never tell improbable yarns," remarked one of them as a company of them sat around the door of the state library yesterday, "and I don't mind telling you a marvelous story, however, as I got it from the lips of the principal actor. I would not risk my reputation on the story if I were not sure that every word of it is as true as the gospel."

The crowd seemed to believe the story and the speaker went on.

"The story is a short one, and was told to me by an old negro who is now, I think, the most noted well-digger in the neighborhood of Albany. He said that one day he was engaged in digging a well, and had gone down some distance when he felt the earth give way, and suddenly he was hurled down into the bowels of the earth, alighting in one of the subterranean streams for which that locality is noted. To use his own expression, 'the bottom had dropped out of the stream' and he was of considerable size, and he was borne along the channel into the darkness that enveloped everything. For thirty-six hours he remained in his terrible underground prison without light or food, sometimes swimming, sometimes wading, but always going down with the current. At last at the expiration of the thirty-six hours he floated out on the placid bosom of the river and swam ashore and returned to his friends."

The man paused long enough for the crowd to see that the end of the story had been reached, and then another member of the company said:

"I happen to know that the story that I am about to tell is true. It was told to me by a painter who used to stay at Bosche's, but who is now out of town. He gave me his most solemn oath that the story was true, and said that he had seen the strange object of which I am to tell you. He said that he was in Upson county, and that while he was there he was engaged to do some work for a farmer. He heard that the farmer had three children that were half alligator and he had great curiosity to see them. The farmer was very careful not to let strangers see them, however, and it was a rare thing for anyone to see the children. He saw them, however, while he was engaged at work on the place. There were three of them. The oldest was a boy of nineteen and the other two were aged respectively seventeen and fifteen. They were half alligator and were kept in a pen of water. They were the most horrible looking objects he said, that he had ever seen. He asked the farmer for the solution of the matter, and he said that before any of them were born he had gone into a swamp and had killed an alligator and had dragged it to the house and left it at the side of the house. He had then waited for the children to come to the door, which she did. Her attention was not called to the monster and as she stepped from the door of the house her foot came down on the alligator. She was so horrified that she fainted and was for sometime in a dangerous condition. Subsequently when her children were born they were deformed in the way that I have described."

The painter related in the story published above related the same thing to a Constitution reporter on his return to the city about two years ago. A few days ago several notices of the alligator children were published in the Georgia papers and the painter doubtless referred to the same monstrosities. There is clearly some foundation for the story but how much is a matter that the Constitution will not pretend to say. The well-digger story is that a gentleman who does not doubt its truth. It is known that some very strange freaks of the earth occur in the counties near the Florida line. Large streams disappear into the earth and reappear at a great distance and the whole takes place or disappear in a day and without warning. There is doubtless some foundation for the story that the old negro told.

A MONTH OF GRACE.

George Wallace, the Savannah Murderer, Reopened—Until September 25th.

Yesterday the governor had under consideration the application for the commutation of the death sentence of George Wallace, the Savannah negro who was sentenced to be hanged to-morrow. The application was for a respite or a commutation, and, after considering the matter, the governor decided that it was right to grant a respite until he could give the matter a full investigation. It is said that the negro is not of sound mind, and Governor McDaniel felt that it was not right to let him hang until he could be properly examined. He therefore decided to postpone the hanging until the 25th of September. In that time he will give the case a full investigation, and will satisfy himself as to the soundness of the mind of the condemned man. He did not think from the evidence that he could grant a commutation, and at the same time he was unwilling the man should suffer the death penalty under the present aspect of affairs. Some of the members from Chatham appeared before the governor and urged that he postpone the execution of the sentence of the court. He sent a telegram to the sheriff of the county to delay notifying him of the action in the case and also forwarded the order by mail. Wallace is the negro whose case was referred to in yesterday's issue of THE CONSTITUTION.

A LOATHSOME OBJECT.

An Idle Negro Girl Who is the Terror of the North-east Side of the City.

A small idle negro girl is making a considerable nuisance of herself to the people who reside on the Peachtree street side of the city. She is generally called "the girl who lives," but daily she is seen on the street with a tin bucket which she uses as a sort of "thankie bag" in her begging tours. She is a most loathsome looking object being clothed in rags and covered with sores. Her shoes are completely worn out and it is a mystery how they are kept on her feet. Her stockings hang down over her shoe tops and her whole aspect is such as to cause a shudder to pass through the frame of every one who chances to see her. She walks with a sort of hobble and is seen on the streets at all times of the day and even late at night.

She is sometimes found sleeping on the steps of the First Methodist church or in some out-of-the-way corner. She is apparently ten years old, and is the terror of the children on her side of the city. She does not hesitate to enter any yard and take possession of swings, velocipedes and other toys that she takes a fancy to. At her approach the children fly and she holds undisputed possession as long as she cares to play with the toys. Her bicycle is generally in the hands of ladies who are anxious to hurry her on her way. She frequently terrifies children by striking at them in a playful way. It is not known how long she is to remain the terror of the ladies and children of the north-east side of the city. The ladies are anxious that some steps be taken to keep her within bounds.

THE DEAD GIRL.

A Talk with Captain Couch about the Carroll County Mystery—Both Sides of the Case.

"Yes, I know the Knowles family well," was what Captain Couch said to a Constitution reporter yesterday. "I lived in that county once, and in fact, know everybody almost in Carroll county."

"Know anything about Miss Knowles's disappearance?" asked the reporter.

"Well, not a great deal. I was up in Carroll county about the time the body was found. There was a great deal of talk about it and what I know is ascertained in that way."

"What was the general impression concerning the girl's death? Did people think that Gravit or the girl's family was responsible for her death?"

"There were two factions. One believed that Gravit killed the girl after taking her away from home while the other maintained that the girl never left with Gravit, and that she was killed by her father and brother."

"But I think it was established beyond a doubt that the girl did leave with Gravit."

"No, not by any means. You see, Gravit's attentions to the girl were not in accordance with her parents' wishes despite the statement to the contrary. She was an exceedingly pretty girl and was as smart as could be. Her hair was just that tint that a fair complexion and sky blue eyes should have. She was elegantly dressed and her every motion was grace and ease combined. Gravit's appearance was good and the girl soon became infatuated with him but as his future conduct revealed he cared nothing for her and in the end of the word, in my opinion, he is responsible for her death. Well, the love affair between the two was simple—a too oft repeated one. He used the girl's implicit confidence in him to accomplish his ruin, and then threw her off. The girl's weakness manifested itself there was a row in the camp. The Knowles family are well off, and stood as well as any family in the social world. Of course they demanded such reparation for wrong done to their daughter as could be rendered. She left home and that was the last of her until the body was found last month."

"Well, how come the body in the river?"

"I don't know who put it there, if that is what you mean. The Knowles family claim that they never saw the girl after she left home, as they allege, with Gravit. But there are those in Carroll county who assert that the girl's brothers, the girl and the girl were seen together in a field near her home and also near the Tallapoosa river, two or three days subsequent to the day of her alleged departure. Yet there are many who believe that Gravit is responsible solely for the girl's death, and that her family are innocent. I really know nothing about it beyond what is now in Carroll county."

Gravit is now in the chainage on the Chattahoochee. He claims to know nothing about the girl's death. His term will soon expire."

THE BARTOW COURT.

GOVERNOR M'DANIEL SENDS IN A NAME FOR THE JUDGESHIP.

Mr. Baker Declines to Fight the Nomination and Asks the Senate to Postpone the Consideration of the Matter, Which is Done, and the Action on the Nomination Goes Over.

There has been considerable excitement about the executive office for three weeks over the appointment of a judge for the county court of Bartow county. As one of the secretaries expressed it yesterday, "the governor has seen or received a letter from every man in Bartow county since this matter has been pending." It seems that the county of Bartow a few years ago had a county court that for some reason was rendered exceedingly unpopular with the people and it was abolished. The immense amount of business on hand and the number of people in jail, together with the expense of the superior court have induced the people to reconsider and ask under the general law that the court be reestablished, which has been done. The grand jury who recommended the court asked the governor to appoint a judge for the county, a young lawyer of Bartow named Dr. Cartersville, and who was very strongly indorsed outside of the action of the grand jury. The bar of Cartersville, however, held a meeting and indorsed almost unanimously another grand jury did Mr. Wike, a young lawyer of Cartersville. Both these gentlemen are clever men, good lawyers, and were earnest supporters of Dr. Felton in his race for congress. But this fact, taken at a great distance and by friends over the office. There has been a very animated discussion over the merits of the candidates by their respective friends and by the people of Bartow county generally ever since the matter has been pending. Governor McDaniel would have selected either of them several days ago, but deferred at the request of Dr. Baker, who up to that time had not taken part in the controversy, he being the senator from the county. He asked the governor to withhold the appointment on account of his absence, occasioned by serious sickness. The doctor returned yesterday, and Governor McDaniel having held the matter in suspense, he was not in a position to appoint in the appointment to fill the place of judge of the county court of Bartow county. The governor sent in the name of Mr. Samuel Tumlin, a resident of Kingston, in Bartow county, who was not, however, represented by the leading citizens of the county, but also by a letter signed by each of the representatives of the county of Bartow, recommending him as a suitable candidate for the judgeship. The county court, Governor McDaniel, from what is understood, was induced to make this course simply because he did not desire to appoint either of the other candidates who were advanced, on the one hand, by the other by the lawyers, so vigorously. At one time it was suggested by the friends of one side that Mr. Graham, a lawyer of Cartersville, would be a suitable man to compromise on, but the governor would not consent to him as he was the leading man and spokesman of the bar meeting that represented Mr. Wike's case. There was no reason why he should take Mr. Graham in preference to either of the other two. He determined several days ago, taking into consideration all the matters connected with it, to appoint Mr. Tumlin. He is as well qualified with as good character and is as strong an advocate of the county court as the people of Bartow as either of the other candidates. It is understood however that Dr. Baker will make a vigorous effort to prevent the confirmation of Mr. Tumlin. He has asked Dr. Baker to ask for the appointment of any one to the position of judge of the court outside of Mr. Wike and Mr. Graham, and that the reason he was opposed to the others was that if either of the gentlemen named had been appointed they would have made his brother, Mr. James Baker, who is now a clerk in the senate, a judge of the court, the judge under the bill having authority to appoint his own clerk. These statements of themselves had a tendency to make the governor go outside of these parties. He had but one purpose and that was to give the court a judge who was competent, capable and willing to discharge the duties of the office for the best interest of the people of Bartow county, thinking that if he had appointed one of the two parties to the controversy that grew out of the first move to make the court it would leave it in an embarrassing condition. He therefore selected Mr. Tumlin as an outsider and a proper man to be the judge. Dr. Baker asked to postpone action on the confirmation until Tuesday on account of his health. He states that he is opposed to the confirmation of Mr. Tumlin and will fight it vigorously on account of some differences between himself and Mr. Tumlin when he was a candidate for senator. Mr. Tumlin has some very strong friends in the senate, and unless Dr. Baker can make a strong case against him there is no doubt of his confirmation. He is now connected with the organized democracy in all its campaigns.

A RAPRAID RIOT.

An Old Woman Assailed by a Negro Who Is Afterward Arrested.

Yesterday afternoon a brutal attempt to outrage an old negro woman, named Adaline Mitchell, was made at her home near the end of Houston street. The woman was about sixty years of age and was a native of Georgia. She was a widow and had a son named John Schmidt, who resides near where the old negro lives, was startled by hearing her scream, and looking out of her door saw her being assaulted by a negro man, who was evidently attempting an outrage or a brutal assault for some other purpose. Mrs. Schmidt is the wife of a market gardener and she called to him as loudly as she could. He was on the gathering vegetables and before he could reach the scene the negro got away and was lost to sight. Mr. Schmidt secured a description of the negro, and armed with a revolver, started in pursuit. In the woods a short distance from the house he came to a negro named Ephraim Moore and arrested him. The negro consented to accompany Mr. Schmidt, who kept the pistol ready to fire at the shortest notice. They went by the woman's house and she identified the man as the one who had assaulted her. Mrs. Schmidt also identified him. Mr. Schmidt then started to the city with his prisoner, and the two came along without any trouble until they reached the corner of Houston and Peachtree streets, where the negro lived. He stopped opposite the notorious Campbell's row, a haunt for the most worthless negro vagrants in the city, and there refused to go any further. The sign was the negro in the custody of a white man with a pistol in his hand created a big excitement, and in a moment or two fifty or sixty negro men and women collected at the spot and began to shout at the top of their voices that the negro was innocent and that he ought not to go. They said that the negro had been at his home all the evening, and that it was impossible for him to have committed the crime. A Constitution reporter was in the locality and seeing the excitement he proceeded to the spot. When he arrived there were only the two white men on the ground to combat nearly 75 negroes. A moment later Mr. Hilkey who has a store at the corner of Houston and Cahoon, was drawn to the spot by the excitement. By that time the negroes were in a terrible stew and one handed to the prisoner an immense hickory stick. The negro took the stick and started and then Mr. Schmidt, but that gentleman levelled his pistol on him and told him that if he advanced he would shoot him. The negro then turned away and securing a large stone at the corner of the house he came to, he proceeded to throw it. Among the three whites there was only one pistol, neither the reporter nor Mr. Hilkey being armed. In the excitement the negro was taken off by his friends and disappeared over the hill. The reporter and Schmidt proceeded to the centre of the city, where the matter was reported to Officer Reed, who was found at the corner of Peachtree and Pryor. The reporter secured a pistol and the three returned to the spot. A search of the houses failed to reveal the negro, but while the search was going on the negro appeared on the brow of the hill. He was then arrested, and seeing that he could accomplish nothing by resistance, quietly submitted and was taken to the police station, where he gave the name of Ephraim Moore. He will be tried to-day before Justice Tanner. He denies that he is the man who assaulted the old woman and says that he knows nothing of the affair. In appearance he is tall, with ragged clothes and a general aspect of wretchedness. When arrested he was slightly under the influence of liquor.

A HAPPY MARRIAGE.

The Union of Mr. Sydney C. McCandless and Miss Nina McCandless.

Last night at the residence of Dr. Charles C. Pinckney, was celebrated the nuptials of his charming daughter, Miss Nina and Mr. Sydney C. McCandless. A few friends had assembled to witness the ceremony which was performed in the very impressive rites of the Catholic church by the Rev. Father McMahon.

The presents to the bride were exceedingly handsome and were much admired during the evening by the guests. Mr. McCandless is a young gentleman of sterling qualities, of splendid business talents, and has many friends in the city. He has, for the past year, been located in Jackson, Mississippi, where he has been engaged in the cotton business very successfully. Mrs. McCandless is well known in social circles in Atlanta, and by her many noble traits of character has made numerous friends in this city. The young couple left last night for a trip to Cincinnati and the lakes, where they will spend probably a month or more. THE CONSTITUTION wishes their voyage through life to continue as happy and brilliant as it began.

LIBRARY NOTES.

There is a revival of interest in the library since the anniversary.

The increase of the membership, especially among the working classes, is very gratifying.

The present board of directors are as good workers as the library ever had. They neglected no opportunity to benefit the association.

The abuse of the files of papers from "clippings" is so great and annoying that they will not hereafter, under any circumstances, be permitted to be taken from the hall.

There are frequent inquiries about the art loan which will be held this fall. The library will keep open for the issue of books during the day while the art loan continues.

It would be well for parents to observe the character of the books their children read, as a child allowed to read at random will be as apt to read books that will at least not benefit as that which will improve him. They are not willing to be guided by the librarian.

There are constant calls for Mark Twain's "Life on the Mississippi," Miss Woolson's "Anne," Crawford's "Mr. Isaacs," Howard's "Aunt Serena" and M. Master's "History of the People of the United States." The translations from the German are continually in demand.

The thanks of the association are tendered to the following ladies for contributions of flowers on Monday last, the sixteenth anniversary of the organization: Mrs. Green B. Adams, Miss Ida Atkins, Miss Mary Knicht, Miss Julia McKinley. The friends of the library feel under special obligations to Miss Julia McKinley for an elegant stand of flowers, most appropriately arranged in the form of a wreath, which graced the front of the stage. The gift of Master Cecil Mayer was also deeply appreciated. With his own little hands he brought a basket of handsome geraniums, heliotrope and tube roses.

From an Eminent Chemist.

The true worth of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.

CHICAGO, March 9, 1882.

This is to state that I have used Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder in my family in preference to any other, for more than ten years, and that I have in that time analyzed numerous samples of the same, purchased by myself for my own use, from different places in open market, and in original packages, and that I have in every case found it strictly pure and reliable. Cream of Tartar Baking Powder, comprised of pure material and free from ammonia, alum or adulteration of any kind, as well as from anything in the least injurious or objectionable. In every case I have found this article to be so composed as to yield the largest percentage of carbonic acid, and therefore of effective force consistent with the composition of a pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder of good keeping quality. Having compared this with other well known rival Baking Powders, I find that it is excelled by none of these, and that it is superior to that most advertised, in the fact that Dr. Price's is a pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder, instead of being compounded in part of ammonia, which I consider objectionable in any Baking Powder.
